PolarB's Mission - LOVE THE EARTH

Once again the PolarB team embarked on the journey. This time, the environmental fighters want to find a better answer about how to love the earth.

The animal friends arrived at a village full of windmills. They were very curious, so PolarB asked around and found that they arrived at the "Windmill Kingdom". The villagers here welcomed guests from afar. Knowing that PolarB and friends were on an adventure to protect the earth, the villagers proudly introduced the windmill to them. The majority of the energy needed by the local villagers comes from windmills. The electricity was generated from wind energy, which will not pollute the environment, but also is renewable and never exhausted.

PolarB and friends were very excited to hear about such valuable news about clean energy, and they successively discovered "City of Solar Energy" and "Town of Hydropower". People from the local community are trying to reduce the use of biological and mineral resources by exploring renewable energy suitable for the local conditions.

One day, PolarB and friends came across a very prosperous city, which was very different from the cities they had seen before. The streets were full of cars, but the sky was still blue and clear. The animal friends were very confused, so they asked the pedestrians they encountered on the sidewalk and discovered that these were not gas cars, but electric cars. The electric cars are powered by electric energy instead of fuel, so they do not emit exhaust pollutants to the environment.

PolarB immediately decided to buy an electric car to drive home and share these amazing discoveries with everyone! It has been such a meaningful journey about wind, water, solar power... The answer about how to love the earth was already told by the earth herself.

We support your children's learning during important developmental stages with play essentials that are tailored to their age. Our recommended age below should indicate the earliest starting age, and the parents are welcomed to adjust according to your children's development phases.

0-12M

Welcome your babies to the world with playthings that help them build brain connections. Babies are sensitive to sound, colour and movements at this stage, and our toys will help them to explore the surrounding with their eyes, ears and hands. This is actually the beginning of play.
